It is the intent of the ICF to engage a Production Manager that will provide professional services as described herein. However, the ICF reserves the right, at its sole discretion, to terminate the RFP process or negotiation with a selected individual or firm and either perform the work with its staff or begin a new selection process.

SECTION 2 BACKGROUND

The Italian Catholic Federation (ICF) is a family-oriented, non-profit (California 501C (8)) fraternal organization for practicing Catholics of all ages and cultures. Founded in 1924, the ICF's mission is to uphold and develop the religious spirit among its members and to spread that spirit throughout the community. The ICF assists parishes, pastors and local communities. For example, we often help local pastors with various parish projects and fundraisers. Our members are often active in parish councils, finance committees, and other Catholic organizations. The ICF is an example of the laity's participation in the apostolic mission of the Catholic Church. In summary, our Mission Statement says it all:

Through families and fellowship, the Italian Catholic Federation promotes and supports the Catholic faith and its values, encourages apostolic and charitable works, and celebrates our Italian American heritage and all the heritages of our communities.

Information about the ICF can be found at <http://www.icf.org>. Previous online Bollettino publications are available for your review.

The organization is composed of branches which are located in parishes. Each branch is an entity that operates according to the By-Laws of the ICF. The organization has a Board of Directors, known as the Central Council, which guides the direction of the ICF. The structure of the Italian Catholic Federation follows the common lines of other fraternal non-profits with one important exception. The governing body, or Central Council, has independent authority in certain specific matters, but above all, it serves as a guarantee that no deviation from Catholic principles occur.
